

G42's Assumptions

1. An exhibition's request needs both a request and return data for an artwork. This is needed to ensure the availability of the artwork is known, and any re-requesting is clear.
2. The date that an artwork is requested can be different from the date the exhibition for that work is held.
3. An artwork can only be held by one gallery at a time.
4. The client has not asked to break down the composite value of style and media description.
5. A gallery is just a space and may not have any artworks or exhibits.
6. The amount made by the artist from their artworks is to be recorded (artist_bank attribute). This is a calculated value based on the current value, the sale price of the artwork, and the percentage of commission of the gallery.
